

Tag	Rationale from framework	Rationale within excerpt	Rationale beyond excerpt
Computational abstraction	The group is identifying, creating, and using a computational abstraction as they work toward a goal.	The abstraction that they have identified and are working to create in code is the vector position of the satellite (as opposed to just its magnitude). This vector variable is subsequently used in the construction of their Newtonian gravitational force.	